ABSTRACT

Nurul Ihda Shahputri. 1902050131. "Speech Act Used in The Novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief" Skripsi. English Education Program of Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, University of Muhammadiyah Sumatera Utara. ,Medan. 2023.

This research discusses speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief. The objectives of the research are to categorize type of speech act used in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief, analyze the realization of speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, and explain the reasons for speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The research on this thesis was carried out using description qualitative. The data were taken from the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief. There are 242 data speech act that found in novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The data were analyzed and classified into five types of speech acts,namely representative/assertive, directive, commisive, expressive and declarative. There are representative/assertive 102 (42.1%), directive 120 (49.6%) , comissive 5 (2.1%), expressive 14 (5.8%), and declarative 1 (0.4%). The realization of speech act using words, caluses, and sentences. Consists of words 10 (4.1%), pharses 28 (11.6%), clause 16 (6.6%), and sentences 188 (77.7%). The reason for the types of speech act was relized in three ways, namely direct, indirect, and metaphor. There are direct 234 (96.7%), indirect 8 (3.3%), and no data found for metaphor. The types of speech act has been relized in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympian: The Lighting thief because this research will produce a deep understanding of the speech act with pragmatics studies in the data used in this study.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background of Study

Humans as being social, are always connected with other individuals. Humans have a communal predicate, so they constantly interact with people and their surroundings in a social context. This interaction has commonly referred to as communication. It constitutes an essential to communicate effectively. To communicate individuals require a tool, namely language. Language serves as a medium for individuals to interact socially (Fuad & Helminsyah, 2018; Zein et al., 2020). The immediate environment shapes individuals' linguistic patterns in everyday social interactions. The utilization of language is essential for the daily communication practices within a community. Effective communication and mutual understanding are unattainable in the absence of language utilization. According to Kushartanti (2005), language in linguistics refers to a mutually agreed-upon system of vocal symbols utilized by certain groups of individuals for the purposes of cooperation, communication, and self-identification. Individuals can assert their thoughts by using language as a means of expression. Individuals employ language not only to express ideas but also to shape their social identity.

The study of science that discusses human language is linguistics. It is mostly concerned with the unique ability of humans to convey thoughts and emotions. Pragmatics is a field of linguistics that studies human language. Pragmatic is a study of how words are interpreted differently in different situations. Individuals frequently employ utterances that carry implicit meaning in their everyday social exchanges. However, in order to accurately infer this implied meaning, one must possess knowledge of the specific location or temporal context in which the utterance is made. This contextual information is crucial for achieving the intended communicative objectives of the utterances, and it is referred to as the addressee's interpretation of the speaker's underlying intentions. By considering the context, the addressee is better equipped to comprehend the intended meaning conveyed by the utterances. Similarly, Yule (1996) asserts Pragmatics is an academic discipline that posits that communication encompasses more than the literal meaning of the words uttered. Pragmatics is a field of study that focuses on the examination of meaning as conveyed by a speaker or writer and subsequently understood by a listener (or reader).

In the study of language, verbal actions performed by individuals via the use of words are referred to as speech acts. Every utterance that individuals engage in during their daily interactions can be considered an instance of a speech act. According to Austin (1955:52), a speech act encompasses all phrases that are present in a discourse. This speech act is comprised of both the proposition statement and the overall situation in which the utterances occur. The concept of speech acts encompasses a broad range of linguistic phenomena. According to Austin's (1962) theory of speech actions, there are three distinct types: illocutionary acts, illocutionary acts, and perlocutionary acts. The concept of elocutionary act refers to the literal meaning conveyed by an utterance. On the other hand, the notion of an illocutionary act pertains to the underlying action or intention behind the statement. Lastly, the perlocutionary act denotes the impact or effect that the utterance has on the recipient or hearer. The illocutionary act is a complex sort of speech act that exhibits greater categorization than other types. An adequate understanding of the illocutionary act of an utterance necessitates sufficient knowledge about it. Searle (1976) posits, as cited in Cutting (2002: 16–17), that there exist five distinct categories of illocutionary acts, namely representatives, directions, commissives, expressive, and declarative.

Speech Act through pragmatic can be researched in other fields, including literary works. Because the language or a dialogue used in the novel is a conversation that correlates with the context of the situation, the language included in literary work, particularly novel, may be utilized to become a pragmatic study. That is consistent with Nurgiyantoro's belief that good, effective, more functional dialogue may illustrate the progression of the plot while also reflecting the characteristics of the main character (Nurgiyantoro, 2015). According to (Iriany, 2020), literary works are the work of the author's creative thoughts which are told using language as the medium. When compared to other literary works, such as poetry or theater, the novel's allure to readers is more extensive. Because the novel has an interesting storyline if read consistently. Novels are representations of actual life and behavior from the period in which they were documented.

Based on the statement above, the rationale for this research is to examine the speech actions in Rick Riordan's novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The Lightning Thief is a fun tale about a 12-year-old kid who discovers his true father is Poseidon, the Greek god of the sea. Percy sets out to become a hero by embarking on a journey across the United States in search of the portal to the Underworld and averting a war between the gods. The novel is an entertaining and amusing introduction to Greek mythology. It works effectively when taught with mythology, which is a basic component of the majority of English state curriculum frameworks. According to norm three of the National Council of Teachers of English's Standards for English Language Arts, the novel can also be taught at any point after the study of Greek mythology to capitalize on the past knowledge of the pupils. This study is expected to be useful to readers or students in the Department of English Education by enriching their knowledge of speech actions in the pragmatics science and providing them with a clearer understanding of the meaning of the utterance in the pragmatics study. Expectantly, it will raise people's awareness, particularly regarding speech acts.

B. Identification of Problem

Based on the background of the study, identification of the problem be formulated as follows:

1. The embodiment of the speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief.
2. The kind of speech act to be used in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief.
3. The dominance of the speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief.

Olympians : The Lightning Thief.

C. The Formulation of The Problem

Based on the background of the study , the problem are formulated as follows:

1. What kinds of Speech acts are used in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief
2. How are the speech acts realized in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief?
3. Why are the speech acts realized in the way they are?

D. Objective of the Research

With reference to the problems of the study, the objectives of the study are:

1. to analyze the kinds of speech acts which are produced in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lighting Thief.
2. to elucidate the realization of speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lighting Thief.
3. to explain the reason for the realization of speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief

E. The Scope of the Study

The scope of this research is pragmatics and this research dealt with the kind of speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief, particularly illocutionary acts as the force to convey the speaker's purpose to listeners using language. All data were categorized based on Searle's theory which is used to examine the illocutionary stability used by the main character in conveying purpose. The classifications of illocutionary acts are representative, directive, commissive, expressive, and declarative.

F. The Significances of the Study

Findings of the study are expected to give theoretical and practical significance:

1. Theoretically, findings of the study are expected to:
 - 1) enrich theories of language learning particularly in learning literature, and
 - 2) become a reference for particular studies.
2. Practically, it is expected that finding of the study:
 - 1) would be useful for the readers to give them new knowledge about speech acts and
 - 2) can give the information about speech acts for the student.
 - 3) Can get information about speech acts word from the teacher.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW LITERATURE

A. Theoretical Framework

The theoretical framework aims to provide concepts and a plan that contains an explanation of all the things that are used as research material based on the results of the research. In this section, the research describes the theory of study in analyzing the speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief. It is necessary to study the theory related to the problem of the study.

1. Pragmatics

Pragmatics is a subfield of linguistics that investigates how language used concerning its context. The meaning of the language may be understood if the context is known. Pragmatics bounds are language use rules governing forms and meanings that are related to the speaker's aim, context, and circumstances.

(Wijana, 2009) states pragmatics is a branch of science that studies the structure of language externally, namely how the language unit is used in communication. It means pragmatics is not only study about grammatical but also the context depends on the language used in communication. Similliarly, (Mayer, 2009) notes that pragmatics is the study of how context (both social and linguistic) affects language use. Pragmatics is concerned with how the social and language context impacts the listener's perception of the speaker's utterance, as well as how the social and linguistic context influences what the speaker says to the listeners

According to Leech (1983), pragmatics is a field of research that examines the interpretation of meaning within the context of speech situations. These situations encompass various elements such as the speaker, the hearer, the context, the purpose, the speech act, as well as the temporal and spatial aspects of the speech event. According to Leech (983:6), pragmatics pertains to the examination of meaning concerning speech contexts. According to the statement made by Leech (as cited in Yule, 1996), it is argued that pragmatics should incorporate contextual elements, including the interlocutors, timing, location, and circumstances, as these factors influence how individuals communicate and express their intended messages. To conduct a pragmatic analysis of meaning, it is imperative to establish a speech situation that serves as the contextual framework for the discourse. According to Yule (1996), Pragmatics pertains to the examination of meaning as conveyed by a speaker or writer and understood by a listener or reader. Consequently, the focus lies on ascertaining the intended meaning behind persons' verbal expressions, rather than the literal meaning of the words or phrases used in those expressions. Pragmatics is the field of study that pertains to the analysis of speaker meaning. According to Griffiths (2006: 21), Pragmatics pertains to the process by which the listener comprehends utterances and the speaker formulates intelligible statements. Pragmatics is closely intertwined with the contextual or situational factors that surround speech acts, hence emphasizing the significance of speakers directing their attention toward the context.

Burton et al. (2012), pragmatics is a linguistic discipline concerned with the analysis of speech acts. It investigates the relationship between the content of utterances and the communicative context in which they occur, as well as the potential impact of utterances on the context itself. The preliminary objective of pragmatics is to identify and understand the underlying rules and principles that govern speakers' use of language in interpersonal communication. Pragmatics is a field of study that examines how the interpretation of a speech is contingent upon the contextual factors present during the act of communication.

Based on the definition above, pragmatics is the branch of linguistics. Pragmatics is the study of the meaning of utterances concerning their linguistic, physical, and social contexts. In simple terms, pragmatics is the study of what the speaker intends. Pragmatics investigation of the same words and grammatical uses, only in context. The numerous listeners in the discourse establish the final meaning of the words in each context based on the additional indications that provide subtext to the meaning. It means that pragmatics concerned with how the speaker's social and linguistic background influences what speakers say to the listener. Pragmatics focuses on meaning that cannot be anticipated just by language information but also by physical and social knowledge. It aids the listener's comprehension and interaction.

2. Speech act

Speech acts refer to the linguistic expressions that carry out specific actions. Speech acts are commonly understood to be primarily concerned with the significance of the actions performed through speech. According to Waljinah (2019), the concept of speech act refers to a communicative phenomenon when a speaker conveys or expresses their goal to their speech partner during the process of communication. Moreover, according to Yule (1996: 82), the term "speech act" refers to activities performed by speech. These actions can be further categorized into specific types such as apologies, complaints, compliments, invites, appointments, or requests. This statement implies that the speaker is engaged in the act of verbal expression. The act of understanding the speaker's intended meaning can be facilitated by this communication technique. Examples of communicative acts that individuals engage in include expressing complaints, offering compliments, extending invitations, scheduling appointments, and making requests.

As well as L. Austin (1962-93), it can be argued that the statements made by individuals are nearly synonymous with their corresponding acts. According to J. Searle (1969-21), the fundamental element of communication is the speech act. Speech act theory is a branch of linguistics that focuses on the pragmatic aspects of language, specifically examining the actions performed through the use of words. It places significant emphasis on understanding the functional role of language in communication. Adrnniani et al (2017) defined speech act is the partof communication. The concept under consideration pertains to the verbal or behavioral expression that encompasses significance, utility, and implementation.. In other words, action by saying and also doing something related to purpose, use and action. According to the definition above, a speech act includes not only performing an action but also expressing information. It helps the listener understand what the speaker means in communication.

Finally, speech act theory is the theory of utterances that may be used to transform, assert, express, and even make someone commit and act on the utterances spoken by the speaker.

2.1. Elements of Speech Acts

The act of making the utterance encompasses three interconnected actions. It is deemed appropriate to reference Austin's referenced Yule book, which delineates three fundamental perspectives on the notion that uttering a statement entails doing an action. Within this particular context, there exist three fundamental categories of actions that are executed in verbal communication: the locutionary act, the illocutionary act, and the perlocutionary act.

2.1.1 Locutionary act

Locutionary acts refer to the act of making statements with the purpose of expressing or stating something. The locutionary acts refer to the literal meanings conveyed by the utterances. The primary objective of their communication is to provide factual information or to make declarative statements. The locutionary acts refer to the acts of producing an expressive meaning, which are alternatively referred to as locutions or utterance acts. Austin (1962:108) states that the concept of a locutionary act involves uttering a specific sentence with a particular sense and reference. Austin (1962:108) states that this notion is essentially analogous to the traditional understanding of meaning. Yule (year) further elucidated the concept of the locutionary act, which pertains to the fundamental action of speech or the production of a linguistically meaningful expression. Furthermore, according to Levinson (1983), a locutionary act refers to the act of uttering a sentence with a certain connotation and reference, as described in his book. The lack of a link between the meaning of an utterance and its contextual factors, such as the location or time of its expression, is indicative of a situation where the context does not align with the intended meaning.

The concept of illocutionary deed refers to the inherent function or purpose of an utterance. As stated by Austin (1962), an illocutionary act refers to a type of speech act wherein an utterance has a certain (conventional) power. According to Yule, the formation of an utterance is driven by a certain function. In essence, an illocutionary act encompasses more than mere verbal expression; it entails the deliberate verbalization of a certain intention or aim.

2.1.2 Perlocutionary act

The perlocutionary act constitutes the third component of speech acts. The observed outcome of the expression is as follows. Perlocutionary acts refer to utterances that serve to express the consequences or repercussions of illocutionary acts. Perlocutionary acts are the outcomes that arise from the speaker's intention to elicit a particular response from the hearer by attentively listening to their words and subsequently aligning their speech accordingly. According to Austin's seminal work in 1962, the concept of a perlocutionary act refers to a type of speech act wherein the speaker's utterance is focused on making a statement regarding the outcome or effect that is created or accomplished via the act of speaking. In his book, Levinson discusses the concept of perlocutionary acts, which refer to the impact that saying a sentence has on the audience. This phenomenon refers to the emotional response experienced by the audience following the expression of a sentence. The perlocutionary effect refers to the impact on the recipient or hearer that occurs as a result of saying certain words or phrases (Cutting, 2022). The term "perlocutionary" refers to the impact or response experienced by the recipient of a speech act.

To elucidate the significance of an utterance, Searle put forth the proposition that speech acts can be classified into broad categories according to the correlation between language and reality. There exist five fundamental categories of acts that individuals can undertake concerning speech or utterance. These categories include representatives, directions, commissives, expressive, and declarative.

2.1.2.1 Types of Speech Acts

a. Representatives/Assertives

A representative is a linguistic device employed by a speaker to depict the environment with the intention of persuading the listener to accept the veracity of the speaker's statement. This implies that the speaker is firmly dedicated to the veracity of their statement. This category encompasses various types of actions, including expressing, describing, affirming, boasting, concluding, claiming, and others.

b. Directives

The second sort of speech pertains to instances where speakers instruct the listener to do a forthcoming action that aligns with the speaker's expressed words to bring about a desired state of affairs. In essence, the speaker aims to persuade the hearer to engage in a particular action or express their underlying goal. Directives perform commanding, ordering, requesting, warning, suggesting, inviting, asking, advising, requesting, forbidding, etc.

Example :

“Could you please lend me a pen?” . It's the example of requesting. The meaning of the sentence is speaker requests to the hearer lend a pen.

c. Commissives

A commissive is a spoken act in which the speaker commits themselves to a future action that aligns with their words. Put differently, the individual delivering the message demonstrates a strong adherence to undertaking future actions. Commissioners engage in various activities such as making promises, vows, plans, threats, and offers.

Example :

"I'll bring some fruits to him." It's the example of Planning.

d. Expressives

The speaker uses expressive language to appropriately convey the realm of emotions. The individuals articulate a psychological condition. Expressions such as expressing gratitude, offering apologies, extending greetings, expressing condolences, expressing pleasure, expressing preferences, experiencing joy, and so on. In essence, the term "expressive" refers to a type of speech act that involves the communication of one's emotions or feelings.

Example :

"Oh my God, Thank you Very Much!". It's the example of Expressives.

e. Declaratives

A declarative is a linguistic act in which the successful execution by one of its participants results in the alignment between the propositional content expressed and the actual state of affairs in reality. The achievement of a successful performance ensures that the propositional content accurately aligns with the state of affairs in the world. In other words, the speaker articulates words or statements that possess the capacity to effect transformative change within the world through the medium of language.

Example :

“I declare the war to be started”. It’s the example of declaring.

B. Previous Relevant Studies

Before working on this research, some previous researches are searched in order to help for conducting the study. There are several relevant studies that the researcher found :

The first research was written by Elvina A.Saibi (2022) : Analysis of Directive Speech in the Novel The Village Boy by Damien Dimatra. This research article provides an analysis of the many forms of directive speech found within the literary work entitled "The Village Boy." The study employed descriptive methodologies. Data collection in this study concerned the utilization of the listening and note-taking methods. The collected data were subsequently subjected to analysis employing the matching method and the determining element sorting technique (DEST). The novel "The Village Boy" presents a comprehensive analysis of directive speech actions, revealing the existence of seven distinct types: directive, pleasant, demanding, suggestive, interrogative, prohibitive, and permissive.

The second research was written by Putri I.A.P.A.D.P in 2019 entiled "An Analysis of Speech Act Used in Harry Potter and The Goblet of Fire Movie". The purpose of this study was to examine the speech performance utilized in the film Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire. This study employed a qualitative descriptive research design. The principal data sources consisted of dialogue from the film Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire. The findings of the study indicated that the utterances utilized locutionary acts in the following forms: declarative, interrogative, imperative, and exclamatory. These forms were employed to convey direct or indirect illocutionary acts, including directive, commissive, representative, and interrogative ones.

The third research study was undertaken by Tatu Siti Robiah in 2022, titled "Speech Acts in the Newspaper of the Cable News Network." This study examines the analysis of speech acts in newspapers published by the Cable News Network (CNN). The objective of this study is to discern the locutionary, illocutionary, and perlocutionary acts present in the newspapers published by the Cable News Network (CNN). The data collection strategy employed in this study is qualitative descriptive. The analysis revealed a total of 117 instances of speech actions inside the publications published by the Cable News Network (CNN). There are a total of 54 locutionary acts, 55 illocutionary acts, and 8 perlocutionary acts. The data suggests that the predominant speech act in this dataset was an illocutionary act, followed by a locutionary act, and finally a perlocutionary act.

Then, Widyastuti wrote a paper in 2023 called Directive Speech Acts in Mark Twain's The Adventure of Huckleberry Finn. The goal of this study is to look into Directive Speech Acts in Mark Twain's book The Adventure of Huckleberry Finn. A detailed qualitative method was used in this study, and literary pragmatics analysis was used. Based on Searle's theory, the data were looked at and examined to find out what kinds of directive speech acts were happening. Based on the facts, the most common type of asking was 160 times or 48.94%. A slave thief named Jim always asks Huck Finn about everything, which shows it. With 112 words or 34.25%, the second is commanding. With 28 words or 8.56%, this type is the next most common. There are 18 sayings that are prohibiting, which is 5.50%, and 9 sayings that are giving advice, which is 2.75%.

And the last, the research was written by YellaDezasPerdani entitled The Investigation of Illocutionary Acts Uttered by The Characters in Brave Movie. The objective of the study was to ascertain the types and predominant illocutionary acts employed by the characters in the animated film Brave. The study employed a qualitative approach to gather data, specifically focusing on the dialogue spoken by all characters in the film Brave who engaged in illocutionary acts. The Brave movie contained a total of 85 illocutionary acts, which were categorized into five distinct classifications: representational, directive, expressive, declarative, and commissive. The findings indicate that there are 10 representational acts, accounting for 11.76% of the total. Directive acts make up 42 acts, representing 49.41% of the total. There were no instances of commissive acts. Expressive acts account for 19 acts, making up 22.35% of the total. . Lastly, there are 10 declarative acts, representing 11.76% of the total. Consequently, in the film Brave, it can be observed that commands serve as the primary form of illocutionary deeds.

C. Conceptual Framework

The conceptual framework of this study aims to determine the categories of speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. This study focuses on type of the illocutionary acts. At the end of the study, it will be found which type of illocutionary act is the most dominant in the novel. This conceptual framework is summarized in the visual illustration below.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Research Design

This research uses a descriptive qualitative method. According to Moeloeng (2002:112), qualitative methodology is characterized as a research approach that generates descriptive data in the form of written and spoken words, as well as policy actions. By using qualitative methods, this study will analyze the speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief and classify the kinds of illocutionary acts from the expression of the main character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief.

B. Source of Data

The subject of this study employs primary data. The data presented in this analysis originates from the novel "Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief." This data analysis focuses on the primary character's facial expressions and dialogues inside the literary work entitled "Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief."

C. Technique of Data Collection

In this study, the method of data collection uses Primary data. Primary data is directed to the first-hand data collected by the researcher. The data is collected through novel reading techniques and chosen sentences or utterances that contain the Speech act and classify the data found in the novel.

D. Technique of Data Analysis

There are some steps to research qualitative research consistent with Miles and Huberman (2012):

1. Data Reduction

Data reduction is a method employed by researchers in conducting analyses to stress, shorten, focus, discard things that are not important, and organize data in such a way that they can draw conclusions or obtain main findings. The method continues until the ultimate report is complete.

The first stage in data collecting procedures is to establish a study topic by reading and then selecting just the illocutionary acts stated by the primary character in Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. In other words, this is the stage where a basic sketch of data is created.

2. Data Display

In direct to get an obvious picture of the general data, which in the end are going to be ready to conclude, the researcher tries to compile it into a good and clear presentation of the info in the directive that it is often understood.

Second, the results of the data reduction on the speech data expressed by the primary character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief will be presented, summarized, classified into tables containing types of illocutionary acts to make it easier to read the data that has been collected.

3. Drawing and verifying conclusion

In this study, data sampling conclusions have been initiated from the initial process of obtaining data. Because the researcher is a component of the research mechanism, order that each data has been checked for accurateness and validity.

The last step of this data-gathering methodology involves deriving conclusions and inferences from the observed outcomes and collected data, utilizing the primary character's expressions from the literary work titled Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. This analysis aims to ascertain the prevailing illocutionary act type in the novel The Lightning Thief by Percy Jackson : The Lightning Thief.

CHAPTER IV

DATA ANALYSIS, FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

A. Data

The findings for this study came from the main characters in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The following text was written in order to explain all kinds of Speech act. The data was then analyzed using Searle's theory.

B. Data Analysis

1. Types of Speech Act

After collecting and identifying the types of speech acts found in the novel Percy Jackson and the Olympians: The Lighting Thief, the data was recognized based on Searle's theory, which divides types of speech act into Assertive/Representative, Directive, Commissive, Expressive, and Declarative. This research was based on 16 chapters of 309 pages.

Table 4. 1. Types of Speech Act

No.	Types of Speech Act	Number	Percentages (%)
1.	Representative/Assertive	102	42.1%
2.	Directive	120	49.6%
3.	Commissive	5	2.1%
4.	Expressive	14	5.8%
5.	Declarative	1	0.4%
Total		242	100

Table 4.1 shows that there are 242 Speech Acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief In terms of speech act categories, representative/assertive is 102 (42.1%), commissive is 5 (2.1%), expressive is 14 (5.8%), and Declarative is 1 (0.4%).

This data demonstrates that in the novels Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief Shows that the Directive is the most common type of speech act in the novels Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief.

1.1. Representative/Assertive

Representatives is a speech act that conveys the statement's consistency. Hence, it represents external reality according to their utterances or words to their perception of the universe, such as expressing, affirming, describing, and claiming. The speaker's responses show the truth, and people will agree with them.

The Speech acts that are performed by Percy Jackson as the main character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief is Stating, explaining, describing, informing, arguing, agreeing, insisting, complaining, boasting, predicting, and swearing. The following are examples of several types of speech acts used by representatives:

a. Stating

Stating is the act of thoroughly, completely, and concisely expressing something in either spoken or written terms and conditions. It can be utilized to plan, solve, or announce something over time. The people create a statement that expresses something in words to explain what they are thinking. These are a few instances of based-on-data statements;

Data 1

Percy : Patroliperbatasan, entahapaartinya

'Border patrol, whatever that mean'

Annabeth : Itugampang. Berdirilah di dekat kali, jaga agarregu merahtidakmasuk. Serahkansisanyapadaku. Athena selalu punya rencana.

'That is easy. Stand near the river, keep the red squad from entering. Leave the rest to me. Athena always has a plan'

Percy : 'Baik, akusenang kau menginginkankuikutregumu
Okay, I'm glad you want me on your team'

SA(125)/141

The dialogue above happens in Paviliun when Percy, the main character, joins the blue squad with Annabeth, Athena, and Luke. Because he was the only child who didn't know many other people, he felt grateful and happy that Annabeth, Athena, and Luke chose him to join their team. That was the reason why he expressed his happy feelings after joining the blue team with a state like the example above.

Data 2

Percy : Aku tidak pernah pandai dalam kerjahan logam seperti Hephaestus atau amit-amit Kepiawaian Dionysus dengan tanaman anggur.
 ‘I am not as skilled in metalworking as Hephaestus or God forbid Dionysus’s skill with vines.’

SA(108)/127

Data 3

Percy : Kau ayah Clarise, Ares. Dewa Perang
 ‘You’re Clarise’s Father, Ares. God of War’

b. Explaining

Explaining means telling someone how to explain something to someone in a clear and easy-to-understand approach. The following is an example of a statement made by Percy Jackson as main character in the novel.

Data 1

Percy : Kau menjebakku, kau menempatkanaku disini karena kau tahu Clarrisse akan mengejarku, sementara kau mengirim Luke memutar.

‘You trapped me, you put me here because you knew Clarrisse would come after me, while you sent Luke around.’

SA(119)/145

The story of the primary character, Percy Jackson, occurred when he was attacking his opponent in a game of grab the flag. Percy was attacked indirectly. Unknown to Percy, he was facing his opponent and Percy's words above were Percy's explanation of why he was angry with his teammates for calling him to fight their enemy.

Data 2

Chiron : Apapersisnya yang dikatakan sang Oracle

‘What does the Oracle keep saying?’

Percy : Dia..diabilangsayakanpergike Barat dan menghadapidewa yang berkhianat. Saya akanmengambilapa yang dicuri dan mengembalikanyadenganselamat.

‘He said that he was afraid to send me here, eventhough my father wanted that. He said, once I'm here, maybe I won't be able to get out again. And I want to stay close to him.

SA(155)/168

This conversation took place when they gathered at the dormitory table while playing cards. Chiron and Grover insisted on asking Percy what the Oracle always said to Percy. So Percy explained to them exactly what the Oracle had told him.

c. Describing

Describing is to give an oral illustration of (someone or something) that includes all pertinent attributes, features, or occurrences. That is, description represents how something or someone may appear. Following is an example of exemplifying a representative act performed by the main character.

Data 1

Percy : Pak Brunner adalah priasetaengah baya yang memakaikusri roda. Rambutnya sudah jarang, jenggotnya kusut, dan jas wolnya sudah berumbai-umbai selalu berbause seperti kopi.

'Mr. Brunner is a middle-aged man who uses a wheelchair.

Hishair

was sparse, his beard was matted, and his tufted wool jacket always smelled like coffee'

SA(002)/002

The main character Percy's words above are a description of the figure of Mr. Brunner, who is the Latin teacher at Percy's school who guides the field trip that is being held at his school. The main character tries to explain Mr. Brunner's description to the reader about Mr. Brunner's physical form and character.

d. Informing

Informing someone means giving or telling them information or facts about a certain thing. These are a few instances of the main character's informative speech act.

Data 1

Percy : Persimpangan East 104th dan First

'The intersection of East 104th and First'

SA(019)/035

The main character mentioned this as he was leaving Grover. His buddy had told him to wait for him while he went to the bathroom, but Percy chose to get a taxi to his house instead of waiting and informed the driver that his address was at the location of East 104th and First. To get to the address Percy requests, the driver has to know some information, which is conveyed by Percy about the location of his residence.

Data 2

Percy : Ibuku Sally Jackson, diabekerja di took permen

Grand Central Station. Setidaknya dulu.

'My mother Sally Jackson, she worked at a Grand Central Station candy store. At least it used to be.'

SA(086)/104

The information conveyed by Percy Jackson, the main character in this novel, is directed at his friend Annabeth, who says that the cottage where they live is adjusted to who their parents are. So Percy also provided information regarding his parents, namely his mother.

Data 3

Percy : Sejauh nilancar, Lima belas Kilometer ,nggakada monster satupun.

‘So far it’s been smooth, Fifteen Kilometers, not a single Monster.’

This remark occurred when Percy and his friends had arrived in the rural area of West Long Island. They were on a highway they had never seen before. So the main character’s words above are Percy’s information to his friend about the situation around the highway in front of him.

e. Agreeing

Agreeing to something means to say “yes”; to say that one is willing to do something or for something to happen. Below is the example of agreeing expressed by the main character, Percy.

Data 1

Percy : Ikuti aba-abaku

‘Follow my command’

Anabeth : Tidak Aba-abaku!

‘No way!’

Percy : Apa?

‘What’

Anabeth : Fisikasederhana! Gaya kali suduttrayek

‘Simple physics! Force times trajectory angle’

Percy : Baik!ikuti aba-abamu!

All right! Follow what you have instructed

SA(253)/280

The conversation occurred when they were almost trapped in a pool that was about to be filled with insects that would fill the pool. Since Annabeth had given them the justification for obeying her instructions, he stated that they ought to agree with her idea.

Data 2

Chiron : Kau setuju, kalaubegitu?

‘You agree, then?’

Percy : Baiklah, lebihbaikdaripadadiubahmenjadiLumba-lumba.

‘Well, better than being turned into a Dolphin’

SA(137)/164

The dialogue between Chiron and Percy above occurred at the cottage after Chiron told him that Percy had a mission to retrieve the original sword. So Percy agreed because he had no other choice but to take up the offer to find and return the original sword.

f. Arguing

Arguing is the process of changing others point of view and convincing them to do something or to think in a certain way. Arguing is the assertive convince others to do or think in a certain way puts argumentation within. Here's an example of arguing :

Data 1

Chiron : Zeus, Hera, Apollo. Maksudbapakmereka

'Zeus, Hera, Apollo. You mean them'

Percy : Tapimerekakancumacerita, Cumamitosuntuk

menjelaskanpetir dan musim dan sebangsanya. Cuma keyakinan orang sebelumadaIlmuPengetahuan.

'But they're just stories, just myths to explain lightning and the seasons and the like. Just people's beliefs before there was science'.

SA(056)/081

The dialogue above occurred when Chiron and Percy are at the cottage. Chiron tried to explain about the gods and goddesses in Latin lessons but Percy rejected the explanation because he only believed that the gods and goddesses were a myth. So they were involved in a debate with their respective arguments as seen in the dialogue above.

g. Complaining

Complaining is an act of expressing displeasure or anger over something. We grumble when something is not right or satisfactory. Here are some example of the main character's complaining act.

Data 1

Chiron : Benar, dan sejak saat itu, Zeus tidak pernah mempercayai

Poseidon lagi. Tentu saja Poseidon menyangkal mencuri petir asal iitu. dia sangat bersinggung ditudu hseperti iitu.

Mereka berdua sudah berbulan-bulan bertengkar bolak

balik, mengancam akan mencanangkan perang dan sekarang, kau tahu- tahumuncul sebagai penentu terakhir.

'That's right, since then, Zeus never trusted Poseidon again.

Of course, Poseidon denies stealing the original lightning bolt. he was very offended to be accused like that. The two of them have been bickering back and forth for months, threatening to launch a war and now, suddenly, you appear as

the final decider..'

Percy : Tapi aku cuma anak-anak!

'But I'm just a child!'

This conversation occurred when Percy already knew that he was the only one who decided to get Asali's sword back. But Percy still doesn't believe that he is the one they are really waiting for to get the original sword back. Percy didn't accept it because he didn't think this was his job, even if he was just a child.

Data 2

Chiron : Namun, Grover tetap termasuk yang pertumbuhanya terlambat, bahkanuntukukuransatir, dan belumterlalu mahirsihirrimba. Namun, diabersemnagatmengejar impianya. Mungkin sekarang dia harus mengejarkarier lain.

'However, Grover is still one of the growth late, even by satirical standards, and not yet proficient in jungle magic.

However, he was eager to pursue it his dream. Maybe now he should pursue a career other'.

Percy : Itu gak adil

'That's not fair'

SA(067)/093

The conversation between Chiron and Percy takes place at Camp Half-Blood. When Chiron tells about his friend, Grover. After hearing Chiron's story, Percy felt that all the treatment Grover received was not justice. It can be seen in the dialogue between the two as in the example above.

h. Insisting

Insisting is requesting something and refusing to accept denial. When the other person insisted on anything, it became normal to express this phrase alone. The main character, Percy, expresses his agreement in the examples below:

Data 1

Percy : Nggak!, ibuharusikutaku. Bantu akumeggotong Grove.

'No! you have to come with me. Help me carry Grover.'

SA(040)/059

The data above shows an example of Percy's persistence. The statement above occurred when Percy and his mother were threatened by a monster. They had to immediately leave that place and go to avoid the monster, but mother didn't want to come along to help Percy escape and sacrifice himself. However, it can be seen from Percy's words above that he insisted on coming with her and he didn't want to leave his mother alone to face the monster.

Data 2

Percy : Jelassayatidakakansuka. Tapisayatidakpercayaadadewa-Dewi.

'I wouldn't like it obviously but I don't believe in gods'

SA(058)/082

The statement above is also an example of the adamant speech of Percy, the main character in the novel. He still insisted on not believing in Gods and Goddesses.

i. Predicting

Predicting is usually thought to be a question of making statements (or assertion-like speech acts) about the future. Both parts of such interpretation seem dubious. Predicting is not primarily assertive, though it is occasionally; and the contents of acts of prediction are not primarily about the future, though they are frequently. Here's an example that found in novel :

Data 1

Percy : Inimungkin semacam jebakan.

'This might be some kind of trap'

SA(204)/269

j. Boasting

Boasting is Boasting is an expression of pride that assumes the item being boasted about is wonderful for the speaker (and thus will be appreciated or desired by the the listener). Similarly to complaining, boasting can be aggressive or emotive. In this example are several examples with Percy as the main character.

Data 1

Percy : Initerlalugampang

‘This is too easy’

SA(214)/272

Data 2

Clarissee’s Friend : Tapimasalahnya, kami nggakpedulipadbendera.

Kami peduli pada anak yang membuatpondok kami tampakbodoх.

‘But the problem is, I don’t care about the flag. We care about the kid who makes our cottage look stupid’.

Percy : Tanpabantuanku pun, kalian sudahtampakbodoх kok.

‘Even without help, you already look stupid’.

The dialogue above occurred when they, Percy's team, were about to put up the flag. However, Clarisse's friend tries to annoy and belittle Percy. So Percy immediately responded and mocked Clarisse's friend's words as seen in the example above.

k. Swearing

Swearing is the use of forbidden language to convey the speaker's emotional condition and communicate that information to listeners.

Data 1

Percy : Dasar Brengsek

'You Jerk'

1.2. Directive

Directives refer to the speaker directing the hearer to execute some prospective act that will cause the world to conform to the speaker's utterances. They express the speaker's desire. Commanding, interrogating, asking, warning, demanding, pleading, and advising are some directional acts performed by the main character. The next section provides a comprehensive study of directive categories.

a. Commanding

Commanding is forcing the individual to do something that he/she must follow. Particularly when the speaker has more additional influence over the hearer. Commanding may also refer to controlling an individual or something and telling him, her, or it what to do. To put it simply, commanding means giving the individual an order. Here's an example of a commanding of directions act expressed by the primary character.

Data 1

Percy : Kita harus keluar dari kota ini!

'We have to get out of this city!'

Data 2

Percy : Kubilang, Lupakan!

‘I said , forget it!

SA(156)/186

Data 3

Percy : Tutupmulut mu

‘Shut your mouth’

SA(092/108)

The data shown above are a few samples of commanding expressions discovered in the utterances of Percy Jackson, the primary character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The example above is a kind of communication used by someone who want to have someone else act something.

b. Questioning

Questioning is the act of questioning someone a question, commonly in a regulated situation. In other terms, it is a request for a response or further information. Here is an example of the main character's questioning of directions.

Data 1

Percy : Kita maukemana?

‘Where are we going?’

SA(036)/055

Data 2

Percy : Grover, apakah para pahlawan benar-benar pernah mengemban misike Dunia Bawah Tanah?

‘Grover, do heroes really ever go on a mission to the Underground World?’

SA(111)/136

The data above are some examples found in the speech of the primary character in the novel. The example above is what the main character says to get an answer or information from the listener.

c. Asking

Asking is a directed speaking act in which you ask someone a question or request a response. The purpose of asking is to obtain a response from the listener. Here is an example of the main character's questioning of directives act.

Data 1

Percy : Ceritakanlah soal pencarian itu.

‘Tell me about the search’

SA(169)/222

Percy's utterance above occurred when his friends explained about the search that existed before the world was known for the existence of gods and goddesses. Therefore, he asked his friends to tell him about the search they had told him about.

Data 2

Percy : Katakan padaku mereka ketidaksesuaian menatapmu, mereka menatapmu?

‘Tell me they're not looking at you. Are they?’

Data 3

Percy : Mau kumur-kumur pakai air toilet lagi, Clarisse?

‘Would you like to rinse your mouth with toilet water again, Clarisse?’

SA(091)/108

d. Warning

A warning is an allocated statement or incident that signals the existence of a potential or imminent danger, trouble, or other undesirable condition. In other words, it is anything that makes you conscious of a potential risk or problem, specifically one that may arise in the future. Here is a sample of a directive act warning conveyed by the leading character.

Data 1

Percy : Nggakbolehmencederai

‘Don’t hurt each other’

SA(128)/143

The conversation above occurred when they were in the camp pavilion to practice the skills that each of them had. When this happened, Percy was confronted by his roommate Clarise who managed to swing her sword at Percy's arm and this shocked Percy and he tried to warn his opponent as in the example above.

e. Requesting

The act of requesting something to be provided or accomplished, particularly as a favor or politeness; solicitation or appeal. It can also refer to the act of politely or professionally requiring something. Here is an illustration of the main character seeking from directions acts.

Data 1

Grover : Akuikut

‘I’m coming’

Percy : Jangan! Akuingin kau tetapdiatas, memakaisepatuterbang.

Kau superman, sijagoterbang, ingat? Akuakan

Mengandalkanmusebagaibalabantuan, kalau- kalauada

Masalah.

‘Don’t!, I want you to stay up there, wearing flying shoes. The flying master, remember? I will relay on you reinforcements, in case there is a problem.

SA(244)/273

This dialogue occurred at the edge of the pool when Percy was about to go down to see what was down there, then Grover, on the initiative, also wanted to come with Grover, but Percy forbade him and asked him to come up as reinforcements as exemplified in Percy's utterances above.

f. Advising

A verbal act in which one tells others about something that is helping to them is known as advising. Advice is considered to be more valuable to the listener than to the speaker. The speaker may predict the listener's future actions. Here's an illustration of advice from the character.

Data 1

Percy : Sebaiknya kau janganmenyerah, suratiyahmuatauapa

‘You better not give up, write to your father or something’

SA(237)/292

1.3. Commisive

Speakers employ commisive speech acts to express their commitment to fulfilling a future action that aligns with their verbal assertions. The utterances serve as a means of expressing the intended message by the speaker. The act of delivering a speech to commit to future actions is referred to as a commisive utterance. The acts of the speaker appear to be encouraging. The subsequent analysis pertains to an in-depth examination of the commisive speech act category.

a. Planning

Planning entails making in advance decisions regarding what to do, how to do it when to do it, and who should do it. This facilitates the connection between the current state of the organization and its desired future state. The planning function involves establishing and logically organizing objectives.

Data 1

Percy : Akan kubunuhdia!

‘I’ll kill her’

SA(003)/004

Data 2

Percy : Oke, akuakanlewatdarat

‘Okey, I’m going overland’

SA (147)/174

The two data above show examples of the utterances of Percy, the primary character from the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, who is committed to taking action in the future. An example of the first data was taken when Percy was at school and said he had to kill a friend because he was annoyed. An example of the second data is taken when the main character, Percy Jackson, gets a mission and is going to go to the underworld.

b. Promissing

Promising is a commissive speaking act in which the speaker expresses a request (e.g., a promise) to the hearer. The speaker pledges to carrying out this future action by promising. Here are some examples of the main character's requests from speech acts.

- | | |
|----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Percy | : Kita kesanabersama-sama, ayobu

‘We'll go there together. Come on, Mom |
| Percy’s mother | : Sudah Ibu bilang ...

‘I told you ...’ |
| Percy | : Bu! Aku gak akanmeninggalkanibu

‘Mom! I won’t leave you’ |

SA(044)/059

This dialogue happened when Percy and mother are in the forest being slaughtered by a large giant. Mother insisted hard on wanting to protect him and Percy also promised like mother not to leave mother to face the giant monster alone.

Data 2

Percy : Saya akan berusaha lebih keras lagi, Bu

‘I will try harder, ma'am’

SA(006)/014

The sentence above were said by Percy when he was with Mrs. Dodds and promised to catch up on his lessons at school. Percy's words are Percy's expression of promising to do something in the future.

1.4. Expressive

Expressives utilize the speaker's emotions and feelings by conducting psychological conditions. Below is a full analysis of expressive kinds.

a. Greeting

When you meet or welcome someone, you communicate or do something pleasant or polite. It can alike refer to a kind phrase or gesture of welcome or respect. In a nutshell, it is a salutation at a meeting. Here are some examples of greetings from the main character's expressive behaviors.

Data 1

Percy : Terimakasih! Selamat malam!”

Thank you! Good night!

SA(228)/281

b. Thanking

The speech act of thanking is concerned with how we express our thanks in communication. The speaker expresses thanks for a previous deed performed by the hearer.

Data 1

Percy : Makasihsudahberusaha

‘Thank you for trying’

SA(005)012

Data 2

Percy : Makasihbanyak

‘Thank you very much’

SA(081)/102

Data 3

Percy : Luke, makasih!

‘Luke, Thank you!’

SA(149)/179

c. Apologizing

The speech act of apologizing is an expressive speech act that serves to maintain harmony between the speaker and the individual who received it.

Because the apologetic speech act is strongly tied to the politeness component. it is necessary to pay attention to the approach utilized. Here are some examples of apologizing:

Data 1 :

Percy : Maaf ,akubenar-benarmenyesaltelahmengganggu

permainanpokermu yang sangatpenting.

'Sorry, I'm really sorry for disturbing you your very important poker game.'

SA (022)/043

Data 2

Percy : Maaf, semestinyaakumenawarimuuntukmencicipinya

‘Sorry, I should have offered you’

SA (048)/074

Data 3

Percy : Annabeth, maafsoal toilet itu

‘Annabeth, sorry about the toilet’

SA(074)/111

d. Complimenting

Complimenting is a definitive act since it is used to praise or convey appreciation for someone. It may also be a polite way of congratulating an individual or something. Here are some examples of praising acts performed by the leading character.

Data 1

Percy : Kita satutim, kan? Lagipula, Grover yang terbangdengan

Hebat.

‘We’re a team, right? After all, Grover is the one who flies Great’

e. Regretting

Regretting is a sad or disappointed sensation induced by anything that has happened or something you have done or not done.

Data 1

Percy : ItuSalahku. Semestinyaakumelindungimu

‘It was my fault, I should have protected you’

SA(046)/073

f. Mocking

Mocking is an expressive act because it creates merciless fun of an individual or something. It may also refer to cruel action such as laughing at someone or something. Here are some examples of the main character's mocking behavior.

Data 1

Percy : HeiBodoh!Dagingcincang!

'Hey Stupid! Mincemeat!'

SA(044)/064

The lines above are many samples of each sort of expressive speech act used by the leading character in the novel Percy Jackson and the Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The preceding examples are given in the context of the current situation.

1.5. Declarative

This type of speech act differs in that the speaker speaks phrases or statements that, by themselves, affect the world. impact on the institutional condition of affairs and depend on extensive extra-linguistic structures. The following is a comprehensive study of declarative types.

Data

Percy :Matilah, orang yang takberiman

Die, unbeliever

2. Realization of Speech Act

The second research topic dealt with in this study is the expression of speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and the Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The language element is a linguistic piece or portion of the entire language. Every language contains several terms. And each of these terms can refer to anything.

Words are one component of language. Words are composed of alphabets (A-Z) that produce a certain connotation or meaning. In complement to words, there are phrases, which are groups of words that form a meaning, clauses, which are parts of sentences that consist of a 30 variety of words including a subject and a verb, and sentences, which are a combination of words that form a meaning. A subject and a predicate are required. This study discovered speech act realization in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, which is presented in the table below.

Table 4. 2. CategoriesofRealization

3. The Reason for The Realization of Speech Act

In general, speech acts are demonstrated by utterance. Speech acts are frequently followed by action in any given situation. The explanation for the speech act in Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief novel is based on the third research question in this study. Speaking acts are classified into two types: direct and indirect. Yule (1996: 48) distinguishes between two sorts of speech acts: direct and indirect speech acts. Both of these things commonly happen during a conversation between two individuals, both consciously and unintentionally. The use of direct speaking implies that the listener will comprehend what the speaker is saying more easily. What the speaker says is the same as what the speaker does, however indirect speech is used to tell something by using phrases or non-exact terms with a reporting clause and a reported clause. Additionally from that, speech acts can be realized through metaphors. Metaphor is one of the linguistic elements employed by speakers to communicate ideas, enhance speech, or sharpen the value of the meaning of a statement by making comparisons. Metaphor is the use of words or groupings of words that do not communicate their real meaning but indicate parallels or comparisons (Martani et al., 2019). This study finds the realization of reason speech act in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians : The Lightning Thief which is summarized in the table below.

Table 4. 3. Categories of context

No.	Categories of Context	Number	Percentages(%)
1.	Direct	234	96.7%
2.	Indirect	8	3.3%
3.	Metaphor	-	-
Total		242	100%

Table 4.3 shows the Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief novel has examples of how to understand speech acts in direct speech, indirect speech, and metaphor. In the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, the frequency of Direct Speech was determined to be 234 (96.7%), Indirect Speech 8 (3.3%), and there are no metaphors that refer to speech acts found in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians.

The realization of speech act that we can see in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief uses many direct speech. Established on the data above, the researcher examines whether the reasons for the realization of speech act used in Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief novel are as follows:

1. A example to show that the Speech Act is exemplified in Direct Speech:

- a. Ceritakanlah soal pencarian itu

Tell me about the search

- b. Ayo, kita cari makan!

2. An example to show that Speech Act is embodied in Indirect Speech :

a. Aku gak semestinya berada disini, akubahkan gak percaya adanya dewa

I Idon't belong here, I don't even believe in gods.

b. Mau kumur-kumur pake air toilet lagi, Clarisse? Tutup mulutmu!

Would you like to rinse your mouth with toilet water again, Clarisse? Shut your mouth

The objective of this research is to classify the types of speech acts in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, analyze the realization of speech acts in Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief novel, and explain why speech acts are embodied in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The reason is following the research because it will generate a comprehensive comprehension of speech acts in the data utilized in this study. Searle determined five types of speech acts that were identified. The novel Percy Jackson and the Olympians: The Lightning Thief. The research has a limitation in that the discussion from the leading character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief is taken from chapter one to chapter sixteen. The conversation or utterances said by the main character in the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Laughing Thief is expressed in four categories, namely words, phrases, clauses, and sentences. In the novel Percy Jackson and The Olympians: The Lightning Thief, the writer mostly reveals the substance of his ideas through sentences.

The leading character uses direct speech acts in fulfilling illocutionary acts with one intention. Hence, the listener comprehends what information the speaker is asking and requesting in the appropriate context of the conversation. The indirect speech act is widely used in interrogative questions in the form of yes or no questions. The character meant the questions for request, order, and ask for information in this novel through this form. However, there is no misunderstanding in the conversation because the characters comprehend each other well, and the characters know the context of the conversation.
